Fibreglass Boats

Savage Boats a proud 100 year herit

The Savage name stretches back over 100 years to when J.J.Savage built his first boat in 1898.

Today, fibreglass and aluminium boats bearing the Savage name continue that proud heritage all around Australia...and overseas.

Savage have always been known as beautifully-designed, high-quality boats, and with the Savage range of fibreglass boats now manufactured exclusively by Whitley Marine Industries, the tradition of excellence continues.

Built to take the rough with the smooth

A lot of fibreglass boats are designed to perform well on smooth water. But in Australia, our most popular boating and fishing spots are coastal areas where the weather can change dramatically. The sea can be glassy at sunrise, but choppy by the afternoon!

The Savage Fibreglass range, with their deep hulls, advanced marine design and rugged construction are built to go the distance.

Whether it's fishing, skiing or family cruising, you can rely on a Savage Fibreglass boat to deliver performance, safety, and all-round fun!

All boats are hand finished to ensure that they are of the highest quality.

3 Year Structural Hull Warranty

Savage Fibreglass boats are built using the very latest manufacturing technology and facilities of Whitley Marine Industries and come with a 3 year hull warranty (see back page for details).

Times change, but our commitment to quality and excellence continues...now backed by the worldwide resources of Mercury Marine.

Savage Boats. Safety first. Built to last.

In July 2006, the Australian Builders Plate (ABP) regulations became law for most recreational boats. As a manufacturer with a more than a 100 year commitment to safety, Savage was one of the first Australian boat builders to comply with the ABP legislation.

The ABP provides ready access to essential safety information such as maximum number of people and load allowed, engine rating and weight, and buoyancy performance.

All Savage boats comply with the ABP buoyancy standard, which essentially means that a Savage boat will remain floating if swamped when carrying the maximum load.

The ABP is permanently fixed to every Savage boat and is readily visible to the operator in the cockpit or near the steering position. It will be invaluable when choosing a Savage boat, as the buyer will be reassured that their boat meets every safety standard. It will also make it easier to match the exact Mercury or Mariner outboard to the boating requirement.

Escape 6.5 Cuddy Cabin

Get away from it all in the Savage Escape. At 6.5 metres and with a deep hull, it's large enough to tackle a big swell, yet looks so smooth and sleek when cruising. The large cabin protects your family or friends from the elements, and there is extra wide walk through access to the bow and anchor. Match the Escape with a single or twin Mercury or Mariner outboard and you'll have a boat that really turns heads and delivers breath-taking performance!
